

HISTORY MAJOR (M)

Our History Department will help you develop an understanding of the major events and themes across the eras and around the globe while acquiring the necessary skills to read, write, and speak about history. You'll go beyond the "facts" to reveal the multitude of interpretations offered to help us understand our past.

The History program is designed to help students develop knowledge of broad areas of history and philosophy of history; understanding of the major events and themes in history and historiography; and skills necessary to read, write, speak, and teach about history and historical writing.

Program Learning Outcomes

In accordance with the overall mission of the university, the Department of History will provide a program of study that will enable students to:

- recognize, describe and synthesize the essential narratives of history, particularly in terms of chronology and geography;
- demonstrate knowledge and cultural understanding of European, American, and non-Western civilizations and to compare those cultures across time;
- define and describe the concept of historiography, and to identify, utilize and analyze historiographic literature in their own research;
- develop communication skills (written, oral, and interpersonal);
- employ historical methodology (i.e., to identify and employ relevant primary and secondary sources; to evaluate evidence; to analyze secondary materials; to ask pertinent questions; and to reach sound conclusions regarding specific historical events and issues);
- describe and evaluate the concept of historical process, particularly from a Christian perspective, and articulate how this perception of historical process influences present ideas and values.
